Notation Documentation

[Format notes]

X: Tune nr

T: title

B: Book

L: length of note

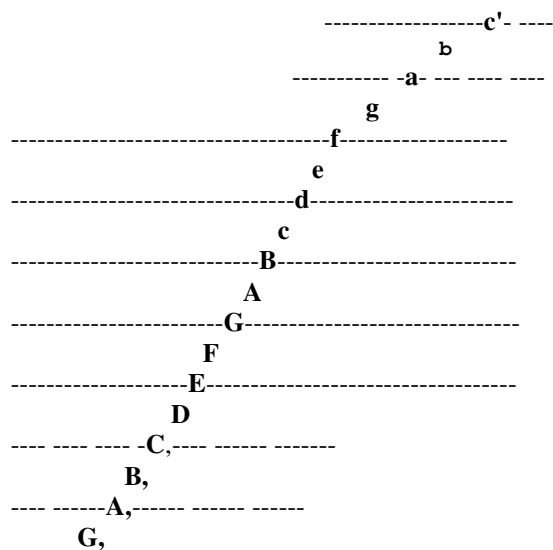

M: meter (beats per bar / note length)

K: key (G = f# / D = c#, f# / A = c#, f#, g#)

P: Parts

%: comment line and can be ignored (used for spacing of lines)

Capital letters: notes below middle C, see stave below.

- The symbols '^', '=' and '_' are used (before a note) to notate respectively a sharp, natural or flat.
- Note length is defined by a character following the note (i.e. d2 = standard note length x 2, d/ = standard note length / 2)
- Broken rythem: To support this, abc notation uses a ">" to mean 'the previous note is dotted, the next note halved' and "<" to mean 'the previous note is halved, the next dotted'.
- Triplet's are defined by placing (3 before the relevant notes, or encasing the notes in brackets like this ((3dcB).
- Roll's are defined by placing '~' before the relevant notes.
- Rests are defined by placing Z accompanied with the length (i.e. Z2 = rest for 2 note lengths)

These tunes are directly importable (copy and paste) into the freeware application "abc explorer" or other, where the tune can be played back on the PC at what ever tempo you like.

NB: for formatting reasons in this document I had to play with the size of the font in the comment lines and so following paste into ABC explorer application just delete the empty lines and it should play with no problems.

This table sums up key signatures written in different ways:
